Mastro's Ocean Club Makes Las Vegas Debut

Inside Crystals at CityCenter, this architecturally stunning space opened February 5, 2010 (LAS VEGAS, NV) February 2010 – Amidst a collection of luxury retailers like no other, Mastro's Restaurants, recognized for its award-winning collection of sophisticated, classic steakhouses and seafood locations, opened its newest restaurant in Las Vegas on February 5, 2010. Mastro's Ocean Club enlivens the soaring interior of an 80 foot tall sculptural Tree House designed by internationally renowned architect David Rockwell and his firm Rockwell Group. The restaurant, designed by KAA Design Group, reflects the essence of this architectural centerpiece in its entirety.

“Mastro's Ocean Club is honored to be the crown jewel of Crystals at CityCenter” says Thomas Heymann, CEO of Mastro's Restaurants. “Mastro's has built its reputation by providing world-class hospitality, cuisine and live entertainment in an elegant yet energetic atmosphere. Due to our prominent locations in Southern California and Arizona, we believe both residents and visitors alike are excited to have Mastro's bring its combination of upscale dining and fun to Las Vegas.”

At Mastro's Ocean Club, guests enter the restaurant through an elegant portal of wood-lined lowered ceilings and meandering walls, and are presented with a myriad of dining options. The expansive interior of the Tree House, featuring curved white leather booths and banquettes accenting hand-crafted mahogany beams and sapele wood, encompasses Mastro's main dining room. On the dining terrace, Mastro's offers views of the angular shapes, towering ceilings and the unique artistic elements of Crystals. The signature grand bar and piano provide a livelier, energetic dining atmosphere with live entertainment seven days a week.

Mastro's dinner menu tempts with award-winning selections such as their famed three-tiered iced Seafood Tower, bone-in filet, lobster-mashed potatoes and a one-of-a-kind warm butter cake. The lunch menu features an extensive array of salads and entrées derived from their classic menu, including a prime steak sandwich and Ahi-tuna burger.

For large groups or private events, Mastro's Ocean Club can accommodate parties from 12 to 100. Three elegant private dining rooms overlooking the architecturally stunning Tree House seat anywhere from 18 to 40 guests each and are equipped with audio and video options. When combined, these three rooms create one large private dining area for parties up to 100 guests. Mastro's Ocean Club is also available for exclusive buyout, seating up to 300 guests.

About Rockwell Group

Rockwell Group is designing the interior architecture for Crystals, the central retail, entertainment and dining district of the LEED-Gold CityCenter in Las Vegas, a joint venture between MGM MIRAGE and Infinity World Development Corp, a subsidiary of Dubai World. Crystals will be the connective core of the hotels, resorts and residences that make up this new groundbreaking metropolis. Rockwell Group joins a world-renowned group of architects who have contributed to this monumental urban project, including Daniel Libeskind, Cesar Pelli, Rafael Viñoly, Norman Foster and Helmut Jahn.

Rockwell Group envisioned Crystals as an abstracted 21st century park to fit into this new larger-than-life urban center in Las Vegas. The organic, curvilinear vocabulary of the interior architecture reinvents and re-imagines the idea of the central urban park as a social gathering place for shopping and dining.
